

CURTIN HEROES 2016

NAME	AREA	RECOGNITION
Amber Wilson	Library	Her outstanding work in collating and compiling the Library's statistical information for internal and external reporting.
Deanne Barrett	Library	Her significant work over a 12 month period to secure Julia Gillard as the Patron of the John Curtin Prime Ministerial Library and make the 2015 JCPML Anniversary Lecture one of the best ever.
Luke Webster	EESJ	His fantastic work in negotiating with Marketing to develop and implement EESJ's brilliant Humans of Curtin campaign. The Humans of Curtin tumblr tells fantastic stories from with Curtin Community and links inextricably with the transmedia project. The posters that were developed for equity awareness-raising campaign are fantastic.
Allannah Davin	Student Services	Her extremely hard work and efforts in helping put together the new formatted awards ceremony and make it so successful. his was something very new to our office and at times proved to be very difficult with pulling together and obtaining information from other areas. She managed the workload and ensured that all the tasks were accounted for and allocated and took responsibility for the majority of the workload. This was a very stressful time but she undertook it without complaint and did an exceptional job.
Heather McLenaghan Drew Fordham Jude Bridge Adele MacDonald James Robinson Rayfel Murray Sasha Hilton Karen Shackleton Debbie Williamson	Library Library Library Library Library Library Careers Library Library	Together they effectively managed the promotion, selection, on-boarding and training of 25 new Library Student Assistants (LSA) in time for the start of semester 1 2016.  This is the team that work on 'espace', the institutional repository of Curtin's research outputs, including the PhD theses. The team work under the direction of Janice Chan. The team has worked together to resolve a significantly increased volume of publication records arising from the implementation of Symplectic Elements. Their approach to develop potential solutions always put the client first. They have been very proactive and constructive when dealing with this challenge.
Anita Hart Elle Walker Adam Livingstone Linda Adnyana Marion Kickett Jon Bullen Simon Forrest	Library EESJ EESJ DVCA CAS CAS DVCA	Contribution to the Indigenous Outcomes report to Council. In Elle and Adam, EESJ has two staff who know how to quickly and effectively present data and information with a professional finish. Linda brought a calming presence at a critical time (which I really wish to acknowledge), and applied her knowledge of how to pull together a presentation best suited to our DVCs needs.
Silvia Lozeva	EESJ	The calm, consistent approach she takes to administering the HEPP budget and her enterprise in improving the allocation/reporting process so EESJ will receive regular updates on progress against HEPP funded projects.

CURTIN HEROES 2016

Vicki Ward	EESJ	Her tireless efforts and tremendous skills in dealing with people to bring together a firm foundation for the SAGE (Gender Equality in STEMM) project, including guiding the establishment of the governance framework, the self-assessment teams, coordinating workshops involving external presenters, and keeping on top of the project requirements as determined in conjunction with the Project Lead, Jo Ward.
Amanda Willis	EESJ	Amanda has lead a number of collaboration initiatives with partner areas which have made real our commitment to partnering with key areas. She also walks the talk at all times in terms of the Values and Signature Behaviours, and inspires those in her team and beyond to do the same. Amanda empowers her management team to make good decisions by keeping us well informed and she works to ensure that as well as focusing on deliverables and output, we take time to celebrate success in EESJ.
George Haydn		George is a great leader and inspiration to our students. He goes above and beyond his role as a lecturer and is always willing to help out with school visits, community engagement while promoting the university and the centre.
EXCELLENCE IN TEACHING AWARD WINNERS
Gail Hardy	HUM	Undergraduate Award HUM
Heather Lonsdale	S&E	Undergraduate Award S&E
Andrew Brennan	CBS	Undergraduate Award CBS
David Garratt-Reed	Health	Undergraduate Award HEALTH
Simon Forrest	CAS	Undergraduate Award CAS
Sam Winter		Postgraduate Coursework/Lecturer/Tutor
Andrea Loftus		Postgraduate Research Supervisor
Paul Griffin		Posthumous Award for Teaching Excellence